

Download Inside Space: Experiments In Redefining Rooms

Brewer Street Car Park has long been recognised as an iconic building in the heart of London but now it's fast becoming Soho's most dynamic creative space - home to a public programme of audio-visual shows, events and installations curated by The Vinyl Factory. The 28 storey building mixes office space, retail and a 'green' car park in an effort to help transform the once heavily industrial area of Kowloon Bay. The exhibition will present more than 100 works and enthralling objects that the gallerist has privately collected, with passion and dedication, during his travels around the globe. How Google used artificial intelligence to transform Google Translate, one of its more popular services — and how machine learning is poised to reinvent computing itself.
